County Republican Ticket.

For Representative W. S. TILTON.
For County Attorney A. J. HARRIS.
For Probate Judge F. H. CONGER.
For Supt. Public Instruction A. B. BAKER.
For Clerk District Court A. H. BLAIR.

For Commissioner 2nd District R. G. KESSLER.
CONGRESSMAN JNO. A. ANDERSON is now known as the pretender.

We insist that Wiggins, the pretended earthquake prophet, ought to be ejected from the face of the earth. The quake which he predicted on Sept. 29 did not occur.

HON. W. H. BARNES is a candidate for renomination by the Republicans of Rooks county as their candidate for representative. He has made a working member. The Record says he will meet no opposition in the convention.

THE Republican convention of Miami county has placed in nomination for representative W. W. Magruder, Esq. Mr. Magruder is one of the most successful dealers in live stock who ever settled in that pre-eminent stock-farming portion of Kansas near the line of Missouri. As a legislator, he will, no doubt, be practical and honorable.

It is with pleasure that we note the nomination of Mr. L. L. Alrich for representative by the Republican convention of Mitchell county. Mr. Alrich is the editor of the Record at Cawker City, and we doubt seriously whether Mitchell county holds a purer citizen. He will be an honorable, honored and industrious member of the legislature.

TWO THOMAS COUNTY homesteaders, according to the Lyle correspondence in the Oberlin Eye, were struck by lightning at that place on the 14 inst. Athenius Lutzon was killed instantly. John M. Boswick was supposed to be injured mortally. The two horses and colts of the former were killed at the same time. Both these men had served long and well in the late war, Mr. Lutzon being a pensioner.

RIGHT.

"Bull-headed accident from Buffalo" is what the Ellis Headlight calls our president. Fuller, we congratulate you on the combined terseness and logical power of your Saxon. Jno. J. Ingalls, in his happiest hit, never surpassed that.

Both the Leavenworth Times and the Wa-Keeney World lay claims to the above extract, therefore the proper credit cannot be given. Our judgment is that Tilton is the author, for the Times has only one editorial subject of late—Nealey. —[Norton Champion.]

You are correct, Brother Conway. Tilton has for years been furnishing a respectable per cent. of the Leavenworth Times editorials.

ON TO HAYS!

The Hays City papers of last week speak hopefully of the success of the meeting of the Smoky Hill Editorial Association, which is to be held in that city on October 6 and 7. The meeting should be attended by every editor and publisher within the territory of the association. As a general proposition, journalism out here is in its infancy. Business and writing habits, whether good or bad, have not been adopted long. If they are bad, there is room for the hope that they may be changed. We agree that the inevitably-good time looked for at these meetings by the members of the craft should be realized. There is then time for profitable work. Teachers' conventions are held for the purpose of mental improvement. No editorial convention should be held without the presence of this consideration.

LIKELY TO ELI.

The grist-mill subscription paper is showing a happy improvement over the one of last week. Mr. E. D. Wheeler, who has been untiring in his efforts to secure a new mill for Wa-Keeney, tore up the subscription paper of last week, because nobody had signed more than fifty dollars. The new paper has half a dozen or more one hundred-dollar subscriptions, as well as several for fifty dollars, and the signs point to success in raising the necessary two thousand dollars.

In the case of the success of the mill project, the building is to be enclosed before the setting in of winter, and the mill ready to operate by April 1, next.

Captain Carson is finishing and furnishing neatly the inside of his residence, just south of the Farmers' Home.

TILTON'S TWADDLE.

True to its past record the World in its last issue made a great effort to be sarcastic in its criticism of the Democratic rally of the 11th inst., and the editor managed to relieve himself of considerable venom and spleen, at the same time willfully misrepresenting the whole affair, which should be resented by every Democrat who has a particle of party pride about him.

If the speakers were as he claims of small caliber why did Gov. Martin and other prominent Republican candidates refuse to meet Col. Moonlight, Kelly and the other Democratic nominees in joint discussion?

He also repeatedly in referring to the candidate for state auditor made use of the expression "Coon Kelly," and uses other expressions that come with poor grace from one of a party that has always made its boast as being a friend to the colored man. He also made other statements that show him to be blunderer at heart than Mr. Kelly's skin is by nature, yet this is by no means the first time that he has thus either willfully or intentionally misrepresented matters of this kind in order to further his own interests either political or personal. —[Wa-Keeney Tribune.]

This importation of a fortnight from the Sucker state—named Mr. Hotchkiss, we believe—has been knocked silly in great haste. We are here to back every thing in our article, which he evidently thinks he attacks, although could we have foreseen the dire effect of the article upon the system of this modern Greeley—or should we say Franklin?—it would have been our moral duty not to publish it.

Just what the colored people of Kansas and the rest of the country think of such renegades as Kelly—we came pretty nearly saying, and Hotchkiss—can be found in the paragraphic samples below. Mr. Hotchkiss will find them an effective tonic in aiding his recovery from the too arduous worship of the color of Coon Kelly's hide.

The colored citizens of LaCyn, Kansas, and vicinity held a monster mass meeting a few days ago to consider the candidacy of W. D. Kelly, the colored man for auditor of state. During the meeting they adopted an address, consisting of twenty-six divisions, of which the following are fair samples.

That the Democratic party is the party which by fraud and murder and rapine and cruelty unparalleled in the annals of civilized life, sought to convert the fertile plain of Kansas into fields and farms of slavery where our race should wear out their lives in unrequited toil and under the lash of the overseer.

That it is the party which held and proclaimed and preached that the slavery of our race was a divine institution, thus prostituting the holy ordinance of religion to its base purposes.

That it is the party which undertook to establish the Southern confederacy, the chief corner stone of which was the continual enslavement of our people.

They close by saying that they view with disgust and scorn the effort of the Democratic party of Kansas to catch their vote by placing one of their race upon its ticket.

HOW 'TWOULD HAVE BEEN.

In speaking of the democratic rally at Wa-Keeney on the 11th, the World winds up thus:

"Coon Kelly said a good many other fool things which some of the Democrats applauded, but he caught no darkey votes up this way."

If Mr. Kelly had been a republican, instead of "Coon," it would have been "Brother Kelly." In the latter case the World would have been color blind. —[Hays City Times, Dem.]

But awake to the principles of conscience and common sense!

—If anybody doubts that all roads lead to Wa-Keeney, he is the person who should start in at Wallace, and hear at the station, "Ticket for Wa-Keeney."

After hearing this twenty-five to fifty times, he can come to any other station this way, and see the same game repeated in a greater or less degree. By the time the train arrives at Wa-Keeney it holds a crowd which, when turned loose, reminds us of the Kansas grasshopper invasions in 1866 and 1874.

Louis Ducros has come back to town to live. He has a house of his own in the Pinkham portion of Wa-Keeney. Louis says he liked it down by Banger, but that the health of his wife was so poor as to necessitate a change of location. He will devote his time to painting houses and signs.

Louis Marxer has deserted the barber business, and Mr. Stewart, who was his partner, is going it alone in splendid shape.

WALLACE, KAN., Sept. 29, 1886.

To the Editor of the Western Kansas World,

DEAR SIR:—Will you please announce to a waiting and expectant world the nuptials of the fair bride of the plains, Hector, and the stalwart groom, Tribune, both of Greeley county, Kansas. The marriage took place on Monday evening at the home of the bride, and to-morrow all her effects will be removed permanently to the home of the groom. The affair, which will be celebrated at an early date, will be the occasion of bonfires, illuminations, and speeches by eminent orators. The removal of Hector to Tribune unites two of the most populous and influential communities in the county, and virtually settles the question of the county seat in favor of that powerful young giant, Tribune.

W. C. GERARD.

—B. F. Morgan took Wednesday morning's east-bound train for Des Moines, Iowa, where he has gone to complete his medical studies.

—Messrs. D. S. Maxwell and C. C. Wick were callers yesterday. Mr. Maxwell is from West Virginia, and has taken land close to the Smoky river, in the eastern edge of Gove county. He was on his way to his land, having brought along a large quantity of timber to plant thereon.

—They must require a great deal of court at Hays City. It seems that is what Judge Osborn is holding there yet.

—County Clerk and Mrs. Dann are back from St. Louis. Mr. Dann looks like the trip did not hurt him a particle.

—Messrs. S. H. and Byron Kelley are building a substantial residence a short distance north of Mrs. Fuson's.

—Mrs. W. T. Hunter is building herself a fine residence on Washington street, near the Monroe residence.
